"BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" THRILLS BIG AUDIENCES.

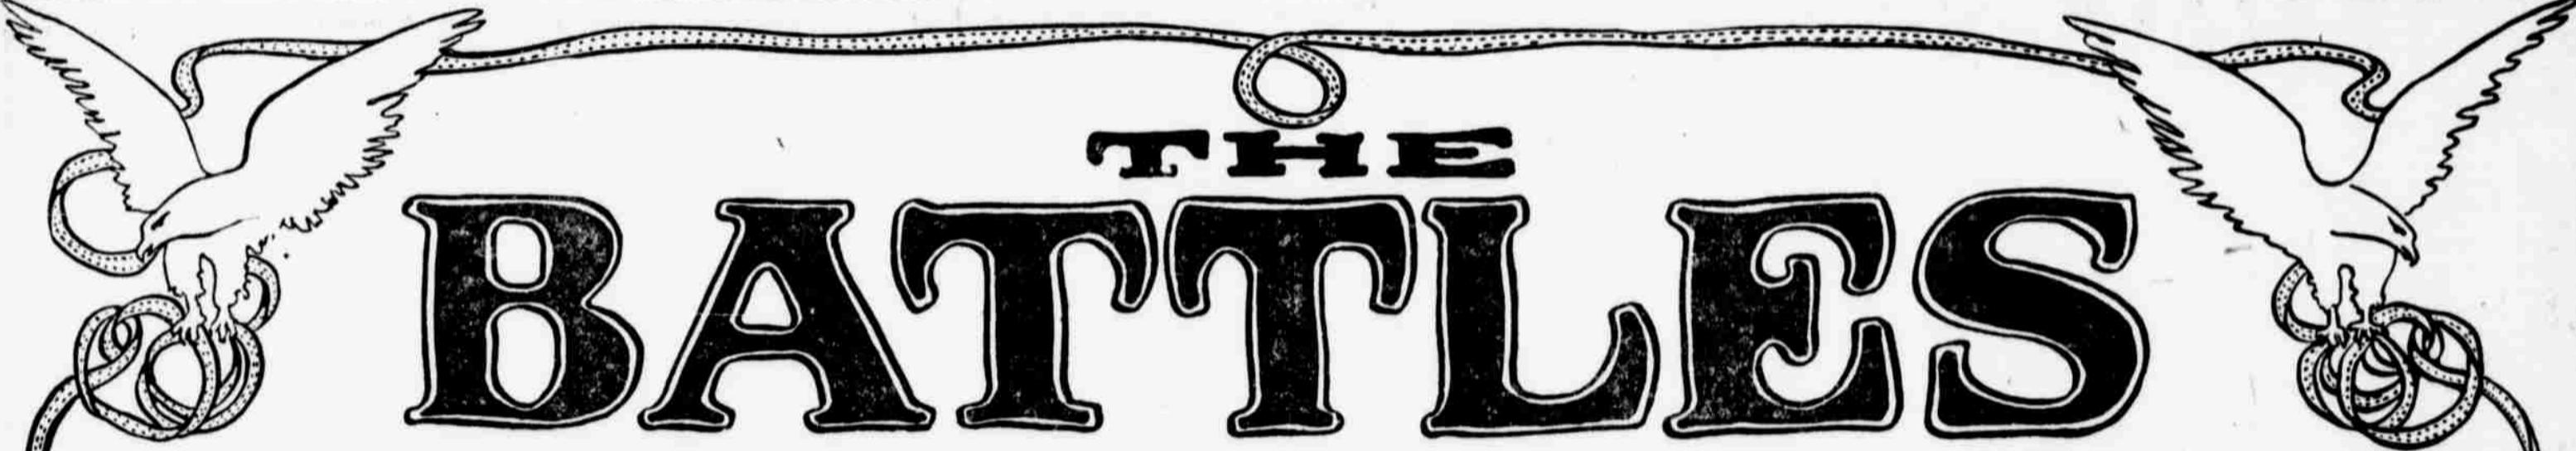

"The Battle Cry of Peace," rounding out its third month at the Vitagraph Theatre, continues to thrill audiences and to arouse sharp discussion on the subject of "preparedness." This photo-spectacle, conceived and written by Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, is perhaps the most

CHAMPION SWIMMER
AT EVERARD BATHS.

Commodore Henry Ellionsky has been retained by Mr. Grundy to give exhibitions of diving and swimming at the Everard Baths. Twenty-eighth Street and Broadway. Mr. Ellionsky uses the swimming methods of life-saving. Recently he swam through Hell Gate with two men strapped to his back. His previous big feat was swimming from the Battery to Coney Island, dragging a boat with three men in it and with two men on his shoulders.

"NEAL OF THE NAVY"
SHOWS A SHIPWRECK.

In "Backed by the U. S. N." the current episode of Pathé's "Neal of the Navy" serial, Annette grants to the United States Government the right to establish a coaling station on Lost Island, her inheritance, which the adventures are trying to get. They leave for the island, but Hernandez seizes himself in the hold of the vessel to endeavor to thwart their purpose. He places a piece of steel near the compass and the vessel is trown from its course, running on the rocks and sinking in water off an unknown island. All hands escape in small boats, but "the brute man" swims ashore with Hernandez, who has almost drowned, on his back. There they meet a band of savages. Annette is played by Lillian Lorraine, and Neal by William Courtright Jr.
